

2006 CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE 9/11 TRUTH POLL

Dear Candidate _____,

INTRODUCTION

In recognition of the fifth anniversary of the September 11 tragedies and the imminent 2006 mid-term elections, we approach you on behalf of all those harmed by 9/11's attacks and aftermath, and the 70 million voting age Americans now calling for a new investigation. We would appreciate a few minutes of your time to consider the following three propositions and answer several important questions.

1) The September 11 attacks changed America's governance, course and balance of power more than any event since Pearl Harbor or the Kennedy assassination.

Five years later, the official 9/11 story still remains the administration's primary source of political power over the nation's foreign policy, military missions, intelligence agenda, budget priorities, and even judicial environment. To this day, the 9/11 attacks and consequent "War on Terror" are repeatedly invoked to rationalize problematic situations and justify unprecedented new practices and policies.

2) Most Americans distrust the official 9/11 story and nearly half want a new criminal investigation.

Zogby International's May 2006 9/11 poll revealed that less than 50% of the American public trust the integrity or conclusions of the 9/11 Commission, and 45% desire a new and truly independent investigation that would also examine evidence for government foreknowledge, facilitation and/or complicity. (A separate 2004 Zogby poll found that two out of three New Yorkers also support such an inquiry.)

3) Hundreds of prominent figures from all parties, faiths and ethnic backgrounds have publicly called for a new and truly independent 9/11 investigation.

Those demanding a new criminal inquiry now comprise many eminent Americans including signatories to the 9/11 Truth Statement such as the 2004 presidential candidates for the Reform, Green and Libertarian parties; theologians, rabbis and imams; scientists, scholars, pilots, and first responders; corporate executives, military officers and high government officials from both Republican and Democratic administrations.

IMPORTANCE

If you are successful in the November 2006 mid-term election, you could personally play a critical historic role in disclosing the full truth and implications of this world-altering tragedy.

Knowing that most candidates are extremely concerned with the current wars, Constitutional challenges and extraordinary fiscal threats the country now faces, and assuming that most would agree that 9/11 played a critical role in their evolution, we would respectfully like to request your answers to the following questions as a reference for voters in the upcoming polls.
